What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

Castoria.

"Castoria is well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhea, Eruption, Itch Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a waste of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

A CANNING FACTORY.

Clarksville Offered a Very Important Enterprise.

For $5,000 a Kansas City Company offers to Put in Operation a Factory that Will Turn Out 15,000 Cans of Fruit, Etc., Per Day.

There is always some good thing coming to Clarksville, and our people are generally smart enough to see the "pint" and "catch on."

Not long since the L. & N. company proposed to build the Mineral railroad if we would give the enterprise $50,000. We gave it, and now have the road and a great iron furnace ready to start as soon as it can be stocked. This is a blessing which the town would not take a half million for and be set back to the starting point, agreeing to have nothing of the kind.

Later, two strangers came here for the purpose of moving a large amount of timber from this county to be manufactured at another place, but agreed to move their factory here if they were re-imbursed for part of the loss in moving. We gave them $4,000 and the factory is here, and this has proven a splendid investment, which the city would not have moved away for double that sum.

Now we have with us Mr. N. S. Storrs, general agent for the famous Plummer Manufacturing Company, of Kansas City, engaged in establishing canning factories, who propose to put up a factory in this place. And when our people come to know his proposition, know the character of machinery the company puts up, the character and demand for the goods made by the Plummer factory, the large profits in canning, and the blessings such a factory brings to a town, the trade and the country all around, if they don't take hold of it in half the time it took Sam Jones to turn the town over, then we shall think this is one of the times Clarksville failed to see the "pint."

Mr. Storrs proposes to put up a factory here with a capacity for 15,000 cans of fruit and vegetables per day for $5,000, guaranteeing perfect satisfaction before the money is paid.

This factory will employ two hundred women, girls and boys, who will be able to earn from 50 cents to $1 per day. And, by the way, it is very neat, light work, in which any lady will find both pleasure and profit, with creditable employment. Moreover the company furnishes an experienced manager to take charge of the enterprise, and they guarantee its successful operation, and this is about all the skilled labor that is required. The company also looks after the market and gives directions as to selling, etc.

The list of goods canned by this modern factory embraces tomatoes, green corn, green peas, green beans, pumpkins, squash, cabbage, sweet potatoes, and all small fruits. The farmers can make from $100 to $150 per acre on tomatoes and sweet potatoes; $35 per acre for average good corn; $20 per acre for peas and beans; from $100 to $200 per acre for strawberries, raspberries, grapes, etc. The factory will run from the time early vegetables come in until the late fall "later" is in the cup, and the ripe "possums" safely canned. It has the "get-up-and-git" about it and makes everybody hustle. It gets fine dresses for the girls, red-top boots and popguns for the boys, a wooden gown for mother. It puts money in circulation, makes merchants happy and the people prosperous and independent. What more can people who are not contenting for the whole earth expect? Let us have this canning factory before Mr. Storrs leaves here, or he will set it up in some other town.

Understand that this is to be a stock company, and every subscriber will be entitled to the full earnings of his stock—no donation. The Plummer Company retains no stock in it, and gets nothing out of it except the profits on machinery sold, which is guaranteed. Mr. Storrs will be able to assure the subscribers that the factory will pay its cost the first year.

Anything better than this, "bud?"

Illinois, Kentucky. From Danville, Ill., Mrs. H. J. Nabors writes: I have been using your remedies for scrofula and am greatly benefited. My back was almost one solid sore. Two boxes of Dr. Hale's Household Ointment healed it entirely.

From Olive Hill, Ky., Mrs. M. J. Matney writes: May 13, '92: "My daughter has been afflicted with erysipelas in her eyes from infancy. She is now past 12 years old and one 25c. box cured her." It costs no more to get the best. This is the best ointment in the world for general use. Get a box at Clarksville Drug Co., Edwin Thomas, Jr., Manager.

REV. FRED. HALE.

The Distinguished Revivalist to Preach Monday Morning.

Rev. A. U. Boone, pastor of the Baptist church, will begin a protracted meeting to-morrow, the present week having been spent as a season of prayer by the membership in preparation therefor. After to-morrow the pastor is to be assisted by evangelist Fred. Hale, of Louisville, well known as a successful revivalist. Mr. Boone announced these subjects at prayer-meeting last night for to-morrow: At 11 a. m.—How may I be Converted? At 7 p. m.—Converted—What Then?

Mr. Hale will arrive in the city Monday morning and preach his first sermon at 10:30 from this subject—The Work of the Holy Spirit. At 7 p. m. his subject will be—The Bible a Revelation from God—What Then? These are designed as foundation sermons of the series that will follow, and it is especially important that they be heard by those interested in the success of this meeting, as a means of keeping fully in touch with its spirit. Some earnest praying has been done in behalf of this effort, and it is hoped and believed that a spiritual blessing will result. Service will be continued through the whole of next week, or longer probably, Mr. Hale preaching morning and night, and the public is cordially invited.

A Proof of Merit.

When a remedy proves itself a cure for the very worst phases of blood poison, it stands to reason that minor effects of bad blood will rapidly disappear if the remedy is used in time. No remedy in the world has so good reputation at home or abroad as a cure for all stages of blood poison as B. B. B. (Bottanic Blood Balm).

Ben. Morris, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I suffered years from syphilitic blood poison which refused to be cured by all treatment. Physicians pronounced it a hopeless case. I had no appetite, I had pains in my hips and joints and my kidneys were diseased. My throat was ulcerated and my breast a mass of running sores. In this condition, I commenced a use of B. B. B. It healed every ulcer and cured me completely within two months."

Robt. Ward, Maxey, Ga., writes: "My disease was pronounced a tertiary form of blood poison. My face, head and shoulders were a mass of corruption, and finally the disease began eating my skull bones. My bones ached; my kidneys were deranged, I lost flesh and strength, and life became a burden. All said I must surely die, but nevertheless, when I had used ten bottles of B. B. B. I was pronounced sound and well. Hundreds of scars can now be seen on me. I have now been well over twelve months."

A. P. Brunson, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I had 24 running ulcers on one leg and six on the other, and felt greatly frustrated. I believe I actually swallowed a barrel of medicine, in vain efforts to cure the disease. With a little hope I finally acted on the urgent advice of a friend, and got a bottle of B. B. B. I experienced a change, and my despondency was somewhat dispelled. I kept using it until I had taken about sixteen bottles, and all the ulcers, rheumatism, and other horrors of blood poison have disappeared, and at last I am sound and well again, after an experience of twenty years of torture." For sale by Owen & Moore.

The Death Record.

The Erin News has the following mention of the late Jas. Trotter, who died recently at his home on the south side:

Mr. James Trotter, an old and well known citizen of Montgomery county, the father of J. K. Trotter and Mrs. Dr. Cantwell, died at his residence in that county on the 16th inst.

Mrs. Cantwell, who went up to see her father, was also taken very sick, but is better at this writing. We trust she may recover.

Mr. Trotter has long been a very zealous and active member of the Methodist Church South, and was celebrated for his zeal in the cause of Christ. He was at one time Revenue collector of Montgomery county, and a life-long friend of the Editor, who claims the privilege of mingling his sympathies with the bereaved family and friends.

WIND, RAIN, SNOW.

All Three Herald the Near Approach of Winter.

A Remarkable Hot, Cold, Dry, Wet Day at St. Louis.

Telegraphic Communication with Certain Parts of the Country Seriously Interrupted With—Indiana Also Feels the Effect of the Storm—Towa Has a Blizzard—Heavy Fall of Snow.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Thursday was the hottest, coldest, driest and wettest day this community has had since Jerry Rusk began rain-making. The temperature rose steadily from 6 o'clock, being then 46 degrees, until 10:30, when it reached 54 degrees. The humidity was great. At 11 o'clock it began to fall, and reached 33 degrees at 10:30.

It was a typical cyclone day. Wind blew at the rate of forty-three miles an hour for most of the day. Before dark it was moving along fast enough to keep cool.

There was no communication with Texas at all Thursday night.

Meager advices received from all the territory tributary to St. Louis show that the storm's effect has been general. All points advise a great deal of minor damage.

Extent of the Storm. CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The effect of the storm of Thursday and Thursday night was evident in the interruption of telegraphic communication with the west Friday.

Here in Chicago the wind blew at the rate of forty to forty-five miles per hour at times during the night, and out on the prairies, where there was nothing to break its force its sweep must have been irresistible.

Little or nothing has been heard from the storm-swept region. Neither of the telegraph companies has a wire working to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Sioux City or Kansas points. Communication with Kansas City is irregular and at times cut off altogether.

The storm seems to have extended eastward also, and the wires were in bad shape throughout Ohio and Indiana. In New York state a heavy wet snow fell, causing the telegraph wires to work hard and at times cutting off communication entirely.

Storms were also reported along the Atlantic coast south of Richmond. The heaviest storm, however, seems to have been in the west, extending from Illinois west to the Rocky mountains, south to the Indian Territory, and north to the Canadian line. As all telegraphic communication with this district was absolutely cut off it is impossible to do more than conjecture the amount of damage done, which, judging from the havoc wrought with the telegraph wires, must have been very great.

IN INDIANA.

Considerable Damage Done at English, Buffalo and Elsewhere.

English, Ind., Nov. 19.—A tornado here, which continued almost uninterruptedly for forty-eight hours, increased in force about 7 o'clock Thursday night and lasted until about 3 Friday morning.

The location of English in a low valley saved it from serious injury, but almost every window and chimney top in town is damaged.

The glass fronts of Joseph Finch, Luther Geiss and William Temple's business houses are a total wreck.

Though brakes were set on cars on the west end where the foremost of them burst through the bumpers. John Jones and Miss Cassie Forbes, passing over the Blue river bridge, were blown off the bridge, a distance of fifteen feet, but before they struck the bottom of the creek the couple were blown eastward a distance of fifty yards. They hastily sought shelter behind a mill.

The principal loss will be the timber in the surrounding country. Farmer Lot Sloan reports more than 200 large trees uprooted, and Joseph Longest an equal number. Hundreds of acres of unharvested corn is blown from the stalks, and hundreds of fruit trees are destroyed. Meager reports are received from the rural districts.

Near Buffalo.

MOUNT VERNON, Ind., Nov. 19.—A cyclone struck Buffalo, a small town near here, Thursday morning. Trees were uprooted, fences blown down, buildings unroofed and barns demolished.

The roof of a school building filled with pupils was blown away, but fortunately no one was injured, although several migrations are reported. Aaron Miller's barn was blown down and a self-linder carried a distance of one hundred yards and landed in an open field unharmed.

Disastrous Rain and Wind.

COVINGTON, Ind., Nov. 19.—This section of the country experienced the heaviest rainstorm known for years, it having continued for over twenty-four hours. The high wind has blown down the entire south wall of the electric light and water works power house, which had just been completed and ready for the roof. This will cause a serious loss and delay to the Covington Electric Light and Water Works company.

Terrific Thunder.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind., Nov. 19.—During a terrific thunderstorm which visited Crawfordville Wednesday night, several buildings were struck by lightning and much damage resulted. A mammoth stock barn belonging to W. A. Everson was destroyed, together with valuable contents and three fine horses. The barn of Harris Reynolds likewise burned, and a number of persons were severely shocked.

An Arkansas Village.

DURHAM, Ark., Nov. 19.—A village in Washington, on White river, was totally destroyed by a cyclone at 3 o'clock Thursday. Every house in town except the school house, was demolished. No lives were lost, but the damage to property is great.

I have another lot of those fine and stylish cloaks which I am selling very cheap. E. GLICK. n18,d2awm

"LET US HAVE PEACE."

Words With the Right Ring by a Prominent Merchant.

To the Tobacco Leaf-Chronicle. Mike Savage, like the good citizen and gallant Democrat he is, advises it, and while we have all confidence in our Executive Committee and in certain they will decide such an important matter wisely, yet it can do no harm for the private in the ranks to express an opinion.

As Mr. Savage truly says: "We have enough to be grateful for," and in this particular case there is not the slightest suspicion that the principal in the contest was a party to any illegal proceeding. All who know "Squire Slaughter" at all intimately know him to be a Christian gentleman and one of our best citizens, incapable of conniving at any illegal practices. May not, therefore the Democratic Executive Committee decide promptly that they will not "go behind the returns." Our representatives in the Legislature will politically have a lonesome time of it and be regarded, as the Rev. S. Jones would express it, "old quitters," which is unfortunate for the representation of our section, but now that it is done, let's have done with it.

Even the colored voters are among the large class of repentants now, many of them ashamed of the abject political slavery exhibited by them in allowing themselves and their votes to be transferred like so many flocks of sheep at the dictates of those little dollar a day Republican speakers, who for a few weeks prior to elections are as much their masters politically as were ever their owners in days ante bellum.

Some day the colored voters will learn that their friends in the every day transactions of life, the friends who build churches and school houses, those who aid them when in trouble, are their only safe political advisers.

But enough of politics. Now let Clarksville go to work to begin a successful era with this bright political prospect.

Let's get our Alliance friends and everybody else in the Clarksville Tobacco District in a perfectly good humor again. Let's have a big tobacco fair, seed show, agricultural and mechanical display, and let's do it right away; say in December. What say our Tobacco Exchange friends? What say the board of trade, the commercial club, merchants, lawyers, doctors, farmers, preachers, everybody? Let's get down to business in earnest, "get a move on ourselves," and "make things hum." What say you, TOBACCO LEAF-CHRONICLE? Can't you stir us all up. Let's do all this preliminary to a worthy exhibit at the World's Fair. Tennessee must be there, Clarksville must be there, Montgomery county must be there.

Let's get together and see what can be done. MERCHANT.

Another Richmond Mentioned.

The following paragraph is clipped from the editorial columns of the American:

"The name of Judge A. H. Munford, of Clarksville, is prominently mentioned in connection with the coming vacancy on the Supreme Bench. Judge Munford has made a superb record as a dispenser of justice, as the records will illustrate, and stands high with the bar. That he is pre-eminently qualified there is no doubt."

TENNESSEE CAMPAIGN.

How The Victory Was Won Under Difficulties.

Col. Carroll Given Much of the Credit and His Friends Pushing Him For the Cabinet.

A Nashville correspondent of the Courier-Journal writes that paper a very interesting two-column article on the recent campaign in Tennessee. Among other things he says:

"The management of the campaign in Tennessee was of the most brilliant character, so far as the Democracy was concerned. At the head of the State Executive Committee stood that able and intrepid leader of men, Col. William H. Carroll, of Memphis. Schooled in all arts of political management, and possessing untiring energy, the conduct of the campaign could be nothing but brilliant. When he was called to the chairmanship of the committee the party was split into fragments, and the success of the Cleveland electors was seriously threatened. The Third party, under the active manipulation of McDowell and his Lieutenants, was growing rapidly and being organized into a compact and formidable machine. Gov. Buchanan was looked upon by many thousands of voters as having been unjustly treated by his party. The Republicans were, as usual, in line for their men, and there was all sorts of trading and fusing between them and the Populists. The situation had a most dangerous look in whatever manner you viewed it.

"It was then that Col. Carroll was placed at the helm. Not a dollar had been raised for campaign purposes, and there was practically no hope of financial aid from the National Democratic Committee. With these things staring him in the face, did this chieftain pull of his coat and determine to conquer or die in the ditch. He called around him a Campaign Committee, headed by that indefatigable worker, rock-ribbed Democrat and shrewd politician Judge Henry W. McCarry, Cleveland's ex-District Attorney for West Tennessee, got together a few dollars and pledged his own credit for more, and began the march to victory. It was a rocky road, but Carroll never tired. For three months he worked eighteen hours a day, talked to thousands of Democrats, dictated wagon loads of letters, and in fact looked after the slightest details of the campaign.

"As Campaign Chairman Judge McCarry did a prodigious amount of work. He loaded the mails with campaign literature, polled the State four times, had made a poll-list with the names of every Democrat and every Republican in every civil district in the State, and did a vast amount of other necessary labor.

"The work of organization was pushed by these men in every direction. Democrats were awakened from their apathy, the combined opposition began to lose votes, and in two months Carroll and McCarry, with the aid of a corps of powerful speakers, had them on the run from Carter to Shelby. With the Democracy thoroughly aroused victory was in sight, but the Generals never stopped working. They kept at it night and day, from early in the morning until midnight, with the result that Democracy at last arose in its might and scored the greatest victory in its history, gave Cleveland between 40,000 and 50,000 plurality, and elected Judge Turney by from 20,000 to 30,000 votes.

"To win in the face of such apparently insurmountable obstacles, with practically no money, and that raised through the personal appeals of Col. Carroll and Judge McCarry, is worthy of the highest praise, and the Democracy of Tennessee will not soon forget these clever leaders. Indeed, there is already a strong movement on foot among prominent Democrats in this and other Southern States to urge Mr. Cleveland to tender Col. Carroll a portfolio in the Cabinet, as Postmaster General of the United States."
